Customer is solely responsible for maintaining the security of its network, software, program, product, service, equipment and applications. Customer agrees to immediately notify NYSE Technologies of any unauthorized use of the Service or any other breach of security known to Customer. If Customer becomes aware of any violation of this Policy by any person, Customer is required to notify NYSE Technologies. NYSE Technologies shall not be liable for any damage caused by such system configurations regardless of whether such configurations have been authorized or requested by NYSE Technologies. For example, Customer should ensure there are clear “path” lines in news headers so that the originator of a post may be identified. As another example, Customer should maintain logs of dynamically assigned IP addresses.

Customer is responsible for educating itself with regard to standard financial industry practices for system security. Should systems at a Customer's site be violated, Customer is responsible for reporting the violation and then fixing the exploited system. Irrespective of any items to the contrary in any agreement between Customer and NYSE Technologies, NYSE Technologies reserves the right to audit Customer and to take all appropriate actions to ensure compliance with all requirements of this Policy.

PRIVACY

NYSE Technologies makes no guarantee regarding, and assumes no liability for, the security and integrity of any data or information a Customer transmits via the Service or over the Internet, including any data or information transmitted via any server designated as secure.

CHILDREN'S ONLINE PRIVACY PROTECTION ACT

NYSE Technologies intends to adhere to the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA).
